The Citizen.

HERE AND THERE.

In an article in the New York Post called "Charming Summer Resorts" we are put in, and put in in this wise:

"Bloomfield is a manufacturing town with a population of about 5,000, twelve and a half miles from Hoboken and forty-two minutes from New York. It is one of the oldest towns in that part of the country. The ground on which Bloomfield is built has not much diversity of surface. There are some very pleasant homes of people who do business in New York, but not as large a proportion as in many other towns which have been described.

And then it speaks of railroads and street cars, the fare and the price of land. Ugly we are much set up in our own eyes and disposed to become haughty and stiff-necked. Never did we dream we so deserved all this. Undoubtedly our visitors, entranced by this vivid and picturesque description, will come flocking from all points to enjoy our advantages. Why couldnt they have said something about the "fountain," or the improvements in Brick Row? That would have been decidedly fetching. But we don't care, we would rather have our beautiful, shadow-flecked Green and our splendid elms all to ourselves.

Speaking of the Brick Row the Substitute wishes to mention the "Intelligent Office" on the corner. Surely this is an improvement on the ordinary Intelligence office out of which nothing intelligent ever came. Perhaps now things will improve. At any rate the sign is encouraging.

∴

Some One is indignant. She considers the reputation of the village at stake. An Outsider said that Bloomfield was a sort of a Heaven-town—no "marrying or giving in marriage." What delightful opinions the wide wide world seems to hold with regard to us.

∴

On Monday and Tuesday evenings an entertainment of tableaux was given in Miss Northall's school room for the benefit of the Glen Ridge Church. The performances were surely a great success, thanks to the assiduity, skill and good taste of Mrs McIntosh, Miss Hance and Mrs. Reed, the ladies in charge.

On Monday evening the first tableau, "The Danube River," was followed by a well rendered piano solo by Miss Florence Gallagher.

Eastman's charming little poem, entitled "The Farmer sat in his Easy C air, Smoking his Pipe of Clay" was sung by Mrs Reed and the tableau given during the singing was rendered doubly attractive by little Miss Ethel Holt, who sat on her grandfather's knee and maintained a composure worthy of a skilled artist.

Mr. Reed, of Philadelphia, gave a solo which surely was, "the song that reached my heart."

Then came Longfellow's "Blind Girl of Castel-Cuille," which was read by Rev. Mr. Goodwin. The series of tableaux illustrating this poem was under the management of Miss McIntosh, and it is needless to say that there was displayed the same nice skill in representing the ideas in artistic grouping which has characterized Miss McIntosh's previous attempts in Bloomfield.

Miss Gertrude Reed sang a jaunty little ballad called "Dolly's Revenge" and the exercises closed with "The Artist's Dream of Fair Women," in which the artist had a rarely enchanting vision.

Ice cream and cake had been provided and was sold rapidly to the delight of the ladies, as thereby a goodly addition was made to the fund already raised by the sale of tickets.

On Tuesday evening the musical part of the program was varied by two solos by Mr. Holt, and a piano solo by Miss Seymour.

Everyone who came was pleased, and the Glen Ridge people are to be felicitated on giving two such attractive and artistic performances.

Some one in Bloomfield, to whom the Humble Individual was speaking of the pleasant evening said that he thought that the pastor at Glen Ridge ought to be congratulated on having the pillars of his church made up of such lively stones. Whereat the Humble Individual shook his head over the irreverence and agreed with the sentiment.

∴

And before we leave Glen Ridge, let it be noticed that the Rev. A. H. Bradford, of Montclair, will speak there in the evening, Sunday, May 26th. The services begin at 7.45.

A sense of great loss is felt by the active Christian workers of Bloomfield, owing to the death of Miss Hannah Michell, which occurred after a long and painful illness on Monday, May 20th at her home.

Wherever there was any devoted service for the church and for other people, there Miss Michell was seen, energetic and faithful, doing earnest work. And, after all, what better tribute can be paid to any life gone out than to be able to say this truly?

∴

The many friends of Rev. Mr. Paull will be glad to learn that he is steadily improving and is no longer threatened with what it was feared might prove a serious illness. He will, however, be unable to fill his pulpit to-morrow.

∴

A concert by the Ladies Vocal Union will be given Friday evening in the Congregational Church of Montclair.

∴

Here's another chance to encourage the boys. They are making great announcements of a fair to be given on the evenings of May 31st and June 1st in the Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium, for the benefit of the "Boys' Branch." We all want our boys to grow up to be good, earnest men, and one of the best ways to attain this end is to help everything that helps the boys, which is what the Boys' Branch of the Y. M. C. A. is for. So don,t forget it.

∴

The little boys and girls are to the fore this week. On Wednesday afternoon a few of them gathered for a good time as the guests of Misses Alice and Florence Duncan. Somebody had whispered to the Humble Individual that there was going to be a party" and that she herself was going to have her hair all crimped beautifully and wear her new sash." And they all had "splendid times" and played and ate and chattered, childfashion, with all their hearts, going away tired but happy.

∴

Mrs. C. F. Harrison and her daughters have gone to Milford, Delaware, to spend a few weeks for the benefit of Mrs. Harrison's health.

The School Trustees' Meeting

The result of the hearing of charges formally preferred by Mr. C. M. Davis against Mr. J. B. Dunbar, with the latter gentleman's reply thereto, was a confirmation of the general impression that there is nothing wrong with the Bloomfield Public School. The County Superintendent was not present to back up his charges, but the school room was filled by parents and citizens, who registered their verdict in a complete vindication of the Principal. If the hearty and prolonged applause that followed Mr. Dunbar's reply to the list of charges meant anything, it meant that Bloomfield has had enough of the County Superintendent's charges, and though they were not called upon to vote, felt it a duty to thus record their opinion that the Principal had fully exonerated himself.

The letters which were read, from citizens who protested against having their names used in connection with any complaints, left the alleged school-room misdeeds of Mr. Dunbar entirely without support, so far as the evidence of any responsible or reputable citizen is concerned. And finally, the voluntary and quite unexpected testimonials that were sent in and read from the past year's graduates of the High School as a body, also from the present members of the same, both discrediting the charges and earnestly endorsing the Principal, showed conclusively that after all that has been done to prejudice parents and set the scholars against their teacher, the morale of the school is still unimpaired.

Outside the school, residents in the immediate vicinity, hearing of the charges made and presented to the Trustees, also wrote in, behalf of justice to the Trustees, expressing their satisfaction with the present school management as compared with former years, calling attention to reforms effected by Mr. Dunbar in the keeping and use of the school grounds, and in the street-discipline of the children.

After all the letters and memorials had been read, the Trustees' adjourned the investigation, instructing the Committee on Teachers to look further into one or two of the charges and present a final report at a future meeting.

Such was the result of the Trustees' meeting last Monday night, but the end of the matter is not yet. The Principal of the School is substantially vindicated, but the County Superintendent is not. It is pretty generally thought that he has something to answer for to the Trustees and people of the school district, in having for the past five years, kept up his attacks upon the school management, without any proper, high-minded motive for so doing. That public opinion, not only in Bloomfield, but outside, is setting strongly in the direction of calling him to an account, is evident from an editorial in the Newark Daily Advertiser of Tuesday, which said:

"A petty school quarrel is attracting attention at Bloomfield. Such affairs are ordinarily of a kind unworthy of consideration. They are generally based on some trivial jealousy, and in most cases should be squelched as soon as possible, for the good of the scholars. But there seems to be something of more than ordinary interest in this Bloomfield case, and it should not rest with a simple investigation by the local School Board unless the difficulty should be cleared away by the proving of the charges made against the Principal and the disciplining of him. Should he be acquitted, as he has been before, the State Board of Education should take some action. The County Superintendent should substantiate the charges he has made and refute those made by the Principal of the school in reply, or else the State Board should know the reason why. Things of this kind cannot go unnoticed. They touch too nearly the interests of the children brought in contact with them, and with the community at large."

Our Cyclers.

Decoration Day will be of no little interest to the Cyclers this year. Mr. Mm. Van Wagoner, a member of the club, now living in Newport, R. I., is entered in the 25 mile handicap run, over the Irvington–Milburn course, and says that he will ride to win. Mr. Van Wagoner is an unusually powerful rider and has ridden very near record time for 25 miles. He however has always has trouble on hilly roads from wrenching off his handle-bars and cranks, and asks to have a wheel at hand every mile of the course.

The race starts at 11 o'clock, near the Hilton Hotel, and the course is only 5 miles long, being ridden over five times. The duration of the race will be less than two hours. On former occasions the winners have made the distance in 1 hour 30 minutes, which is record time for this country. This year four crack riders from Delaware have entered, beside all of the fast riders from New York, Brooklyn, and Jersey City.

In the afternoon two bicycle races at the Bergen Point will be watched with much solicitation, because of the entry of another member of the Cyclers, who is master of a lively sprint as well as having excellent staying powers.

The great Century Run on Saturday, June 8th, has the written assurance of some 140 wheelmen's participation, and a party of some half a dozen members of the Cyclers, and other wheelmen from this town, and from Montclair, will be among those to make the start at 4 a. m., from the Mountain House in South Orange.

Dinner will be served in Trenton, at 1.30 and Philadelphia will be reached at moonlight after a ride of a hundred miles. Every member starting will be provided with a badge appropriate to the occasion bearing a number to indentify him at the finish. The committee of five having charge of the run contains four riders who made the run last year, and who are all club captains, not omitting the Cyclers' captain.

Last year Messrs. Palmer and Pierson of the Cyclers enjoyed the distinction of being two of the ten who completed the run among some seventy-five or eighty starters. The pace this year is fixed at not over 8 miles per hour, while last year a great part of the distance was ridden at 10 and 12 miles speed.

Hotel accommodations have been secured at the Continental in Philadelphia, at reduced rates, and the Sunday dinner is likely to be at the Wissahickon Inn some ten miles from the city.

— A car constructed for use on the new electric railway lies at the stables of the Essex Passenger Railway. A hitch in procuring electric power prevents the operation of the system. It is expected that every thing will be in readiness about June 1st.

—Apropos of Building and Loan Association matters, the Rutherford Building and Loan Association have just matured their 6th series of stock. The longest time it took for one series to mature of the six was 10 years and 6 months, the shortest record was 8 years and 5 months. What can be done in Beegen County should be possible and probable in Bloomfield, Essex Co.

—Mr. William Wallace of Soho, has rented Mrs. Durr's house on Osborn St. This is the family from whom Justice O. Hogan of Belleville, detains their adopted daughter Lillie, age 8, on account of alleged ill treatment. —Memorial Day will be appropriately celebrated by Pierson Post, G. A. R. About nine o'clock A. M., the members of the Post preceded by the Pierson Drum Corps will march to the Bloomfield Cemetery, and perform the duty of decorating the soldiers graves. In the evening an entertainment will be given by the Post. The exercises will be of a varied character, singing by children, solo "Tenting on the old camp ground" by Miss Mary Wilde, and an address by Rev. J. Clement French. D. D., of the Central Presbyterian Church, Newark.

Watsessing.

—A comedy of errors is what may truthfully be said of the game of baseball played on the Y. M. C. A. grounds last Saturday, between the Mutual Benefit Insurance Co. nine and the Y. M. C. A. nine. The latter won by a score of 20 to 15.

—The Social Guild of the Watsessing M. E. Church held their semi monthly meeting at the residence of the pastor, on Wednesday evening. There was a large attendance, tableaux's, charades, literary, and musical exercises made up the evening programme.

—The New Jersey Business College, 764 & 766 Broad street, continues its session all summer. The attendance this year has been larger than usual, and the school is a perfect model of its character. The discipline and methods of instruction are all that can be desired.

—Watsessing is well known to contain a number of staunch opponents of the rum power, earnest advocates for state and national prohibition. While the gaze of several optimistic gentlemen is being so steadily concentrated on Trenton and Washington the enemy is entrenching himself at the door of their threshold. If the people of Watsessing want to preserve a decent reputation for their locality, they will have to take at least one saloon keeper by the nape of the neck and give him to understand that his place must be closed on Sunday or he must get out of the community. It will not do to allow Watsessing to be made a rendevous for Orange and Montclair bummers. It will not do to allow the rag-tag and bob-tail of society who have no respect for law, order, or decency, to think that when they get into Watsessing they have got among friends, where "a fellow feeling makes one wondrous kind." Let us have a quiet Sunday, a respected day, even if we have to appeal to the White Caps for aid in enforcing our desires.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

—The members of the Boy's Branch and the Light foot Drum Corps, are making preparations for an elaborate fair which they intend to hold in the Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium, on Friday evening, May 31st, and Saturday, June 1st. It is hoped that all who can will use this opportunity for assisting and encouraging the boy's enterprise.

—The meeting for boys on Wednesday afternoon was well attended. The excercises were very interesting. Mr. Ralph Wells of N. Y. City, entertained the boys with a most interesting address in so practical a manner, no doubt left a lasting impression on the minds of those present. We trust all the boys were greatly benefited.

—The Y. M. C. A. Jr. will play two games of ball on the 30th., on the Y. M. C. A. grounds at Watsessing. Their antagonists will be a club from Belleville. The boys will have their new suits for this occasion and will doubtless do their best to carry of the palms.

—The Y. M. C. A. Sr. will play at Orange on the same day in the morning.

—The monthly meeting and reception of the members of the Young Men's Christian Association on the 17th, was an occasion full of interest. After the devotional excercises the following names were presented for active membership, W. N. Colfax, Joseph Weden, Dudley Farrand, and Fred'k Crane. The election of these gentlemen was followed by a most interesting talk on the manufacture of pottery by Mr. James Davison. Mr. Staiger made some remarks concerning the International Convention held at Philadelphia, Pa. from the 8th–12th of May. A brief report of General Secretary closed the excercises, and the audience adjourned to the rooms below where a pleasant social was given by the auxillary with refreshments.

—Through the kindness of a friend a number of finely illustrated German Weeklies and Magazines have been placed on the reading table of the Y. M. C. A. and will hereafter be found there regularly. Among them is the "Deutscher Volks Freund" of New York, "Abendschule" of St Louis, "Illustrirte Zeitung" of Berlin, "Gartenlaube" and "Daoeim" of Leipzig.

To the Citizen:

The appeal of St Michael's Hospital, of Newark, N. J., which has been recently mailed to residents of the different townships of Essex county, is worthy of deep and careful consideration.

The Hospital, as must be generally known, is non-sectarian, and its doors are open to all without distinction of color or creed who unfortunately are in need of the ministrations of the good Sisters who devote their entire lives to the noble and heroic work of alleviating suffering and pain. The Hospital has responded on many occasions to the demands of Bloomfield, and is still ready to shelter those in need of its services. This being the first public appeal made by the good Sisters in behalf of the hospital, it behooves each and every one to contribute according to his means to so grand and noble a cause, and we trust that Bloomfield and Glen Ridge will respond in a manner so substantial as to reflect credit on the two places whose interest are identical. Public announcement has already been made of the appeal in some of our churches, and it would be wise if all the Pastors of our town would refer to the fact from their respective pulpits on Sunday morning next, the 26th., which would have the effect of securing the hearty co-operation of all classes and creeds.
